

TROTSKY OUTLINES BOLSHEVIST PLANS

To Convert Red Army Into
Labor Army and Reorganize
National Economy

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Leon Trotsky, minister of war of soviet Russia, addressing the Third Russian congress in Moscow January 25 last, outlined the Bolshevik plan for converting the Red army into an army of labor, according to reports of his speech reaching here.

Referring to the work of the Red army, Trotsky said:

"They (the soldiers) have learned under the very hardest conditions to lead hundreds of thousands of organized masses and have led peasants into battle. They will be trained officers. There is still one way open to the reorganization of national economy—the way of uniting the army and the labor army, and changing the military detachments into detachments of a labor army."

Soldiers Must Work.

"Many in the army have already accomplished their military task but they cannot be demobilized as yet. Now that their military duties they must fight against economic ruin and against hunger; they must work to obtain fuel, meat and other heat producing products; they must take part in building, in clearing the lines of snow, in repairing roads, building roads, grinding flour, etc."

"We have already organized several of these armies and they have been allotted their tasks. One army must obtain foodstuffs for the workmen of the districts in which it was formerly stationed and it also will cut wood, cart it to the railways and repair engines. Another army will help in the laying down of railway lines for the transport of goods. A third labor army will be used to repair agricultural implements and machines and in the spring will take part in the working of the land."

"At the present time among the working masses there must be the greatest exactitude and conscientiousness, together with responsibility to the end and there must be the utmost strictness and severity both in small and great matters. If the most advanced workmen of the country will devote their thoughts, all their will and all their revolutionary duty to the cause of regulating economic affairs, then I have no doubt that we shall lead Russia on a new free road to the founding of our enemies and the joy of our friends."

Economic Situation Acute.
Trotsky pointed out in his speech that the economic situation in Russia today is not unlike that existing throughout Europe, only the problems are more acute.

"We were cut off from our coal supply, crude oil and cotton," said Trotsky. "Under these conditions can the soviet regime be blamed? Is it the source of evil? A factory may be run on capitalist lines, it may belong to one person or a company, it may be socialized or may form part of a complete communist state, but if it lacks raw materials it cannot work. The Russian proletariat already feels responsible for the welfare of its country and for its economic life. The hardships and poverty we are suffering are educating the workers of the proletariat. Under these conditions every workman and every work woman is beginning to realize what economic life means to the country. This makes us confident that we will overcome economic disorganization."

Qualified Workers Needed.

"We shall succeed if qualified and trained workers take part in production. Trade unions must register qualified workmen in the villages. Only in those localities where trade union methods are inadequate other methods must be introduced, in particular by compulsion because labor conscription gives the state the right to tell the qualified workman who is employed on some important work in his village: 'You are obliged to leave your present employment and go to Sormovo or Kolomna, because there your work is required.'"

"Labor conscription means that the qualified workmen who leave the army must take their work books and proceed to places where they are required, where their presence is necessary to the economic system of the country. We must feed these workmen and guarantee them the minimum food ration."

Government Inspector of Subs Asphyxiated

ALAMEDA, Cal., Feb. 28.—William A. H., government inspector of submarines and an overseas war veteran, was asphyxiated when he entered a gas tank of a submarine at a ship-building plant here. It is the custom to fill the gas tanks to discover flaws. A. H. is believed to have entered the tank from which the gas was not exhausted.

Fashion writers invariably say it is no longer smart to do this or smart to do that—No! Nor sensible either.

OFFICE, UPTOWN FOR GENERAL AGENT, NOT TICKETS

Through a mistake which sometimes occurs in a conversation over the telephone, W. H. Chevers, general agent of the Union Pacific system, was quoted yesterday as announcing that the Union Pacific would establish an uptown ticket office shortly after March 1st.

This was not correct. Mr. Chevers announced that the Union Pacific system would establish an uptown office for the general agent with a staff of assistants for the convenience of persons doing business with the Union Pacific.

The ticket office at the Union station will be the only ticket office for the present.

More Evidence Required of Christian Scientist

BOSTON, Feb. 28.—Judge Crosby of the supreme court, after hearing arguments by counsel in the Christian Science church litigation has taken under advisement a motion by counsel for the directors of the church that Fred. Dodge, as master in the suits, be directed to hear further evidence before filing his report. The evidence which the directors wish to introduce is in connection with the suit of John V. Dittmore against the directors to compel them to recognize him as a member of their board.

No action was taken by Judge Crosby on a motion by counsel for the directors that the time for the filing of the master's report which expires on March 1, be extended to March 15. He remarked, however, that there was some question about the legality of granting such an extension unless requested by the master himself.

Vassar Girls Fail to See N. Y. Underworld

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The quest for "local color" and night court "atmosphere" of seven Vassar girls who came here to see at first hand New York's "underworld" was halted when District Attorney Swann disapproved the visit of the coeds and refused to assist them in their quest.

Cases of disorderly conduct and like offenses are tried in the night session of the court.

"I would not encourage girls of that impressionable age going into the atmosphere of a night court," Mr. Swann declared.

TO GUARD AGAINST INFLUENZA.
Don't let the dread influenza get you. If you have even the slightest cough or cold, better begin using Foley's Honey and Tar at once. Henry Willis, Sandy Point, Texas, is one of many thousands who consider this remedy "just fine." He says: "I suffered severely with a bad cough; after using four or five dollars' worth of different medicines decided to try Foley's Honey and Tar. One bottle gave relief. Used medicine I mentioned." Contains no opiates. A. R. McInyre Drug Co.—Advertisement.

Wessler Cigar Company Having No Labor Troubles

There have been many wild rumors about the Wessler Cigar company going out of business in this city, which are not true—it is only jealous spite circulated from some small source.

The Wessler Cigar company started business in the spring of 1893 and has been in Ogden ever since, and will remain in Ogden as long as Ogden is on the map. To give the smokers of this community the best cigars that can be made from Havana tobacco. We also intend to operate a strictly union sanitary up-to-date cigar factory as we have done in the past, only on a much larger scale. No inferior cigars will be made by the Wessler Cigar company. "The Best or Nothing" is our motto. No get-rich-quick proposition. "Honesty is the best policy."—Wessler Cigar Company.—Adv.
